Overview

Intellectual Output 4 (IO4) aims at establishing and sustaining a Community of Practice (CoP) around INTELEd. As part of this output a social group was initially developed and launched, leveraging the affordances social media to facilitate communication and collaboration among SEN teachers and other interested stakeholders. Subsequently, a platform hosting the INTELEd educational presentations, digital learning applications, educational materials and lesson plans was developed and connected to the INTELEd social group. Both the INTELEd social group and platform, composed the integral parts composing the INTELEd CoP and were open up to the public for engaging as many interested stakeholders as possible. Finally, a sustainability plan was developed to ensure the roll out and sustainability of the CoP.

IO4 is composed of four Tasks (T), as follows:

- IO4-T1. Creation of a database of the key audience.
- IO4-T2. Creation of a community platform.
- IO4-T3. Launching – Rolling out the community.
- IO4-T4. Establishment of a sustainability plan.

In the following report, each of these four tasks be presented on its own – all of the four tasks contribute to the goals of IO4, which are the development, establishment and sustainability of a Community of Practice (CoP) around INTELEd.

Executive Summary

This document presents the partners' efforts for the creation of a database of the key audience, to populate the INTELEd CoP. The process that was followed to develop the database was the following:

- Each partner has initially worked separately on the development of a database including the main candidate stakeholders, which would be invited to join the INTELEd CoP, after its development
- The separate databases created by the partners were merged and unified in a whole database representing the "Database of the INTELEd key audience"

As part of this report we will present the efforts of the partners towards the creation of the database.

1. Introduction

The key audience for INTELEd is naturally the SEN teachers. Their interest is important as well as their ability to accept and take ownership of practices promoted through ICT multi-sensory educational resources and tools and assessment techniques. As such, as part of the “Database of the INTELEd key audience”, we have primarily targeted to include mainly primary education schools and teachers. In the same spirit, we have also aimed at including local professional teacher associations such as the pedagogical institutes.

Finally, we have also focused on additional key audience, such as the scientists’ community, representatives from SEN industry (e.g., assistive technology), and policy makers from the Ministry of Education. These were obviously another important group as they set the teacher accountability boundaries, through the intentions of the curriculum, external examination goals, or the setting of standards for the teaching in schools.

Overall, it was expected that getting them to engage in a CoP around INTELEd and changing their views on teacher training and practice would greatly enhance SEN education.

What follows in the next section, is the local database of the key audience, which was created at each partner-country, whereas in the last section, we present the final database derived from the compilation of all the four partners’ local databases.

2.1. The Cyprus local database

The Cyprus local database was prepared by the Cyprus University of Technology (P1-CUT). It was finalized on June 2018 and included a total of 90 contacts (Table 1). In particular, it included 79 mainstream primary schools with special units supporting inclusive education, and a total of 9 special education schools for SEN students dealing with more heavy disabilities. It also included links to the main policy-makers organizations (i.e. Ministry of Education and Culture, Pedagogical Institute of Cyprus).
